THE aim of this work is to provide an index to the more familiar annual books of reference and to a few specified standard works. There is scarcely any topic of conversation or subject of public interest which is not treated in a handy form in some annual book of reference. Of such works, however, the number is so considerable that it would be impossible for the average man to be familiar either with their titles or their contents; and indeed it would be impossible to give within the limits of a single volume even the bare contents of all such works of reference. In this book, therefore, the main object has been to provide an easy guide to those works of reference which it is assumed readers who use this index either have at hand or can easily consult at any club or public library.

The plan adopted is to give as the first reference that which is, as far as can be judged, the fullest. In cases where in addition references are contained in some other books which are in common use, they are also added for the sake of convenience, and subjects which are not referred to in the ordinary popular annuals, but which are likely to present themselves in the course of one's work, are indexed and the reader told where the required information may be found.

The Third Edition was considerably enlarged by the addition of numerous works of reference, both English and foreign, which were not included in the First and Second Editions, and a still further enlargement has been made, in the Fourth Edition. With respect to foreign countries, references have been made to the best standard books ; and it is hoped that the reader will have no difficulty in obtaining all the assistance necessary from those booksellers who deal in foreign publications. For this portion of the work the Publishers have received the greatest assistance from Mr. von Knoblauch, Foreign Librarian at Mudie's Library.

For much of the additional matter contained in the Third and Fourth Editions, and also for great aid rendered in re-arrangement, the services of Mr. W. J. Harris, of the Bromley Public Library, have been invaluable.

The Publishers tender their grateful thanks to the many correspondents who have already helped to improve the book, and they will gladly welcome further suggestions at any time.

NOTE

ABBREVIATIONS

OWING to the increased number of references, and in order not to add inconveniently to the size of the book, it has been thought advisable to use contractions in the names of books as much as possible, especially when the works referred to are well known. Consequently, the words Crockford, Hazell, Laxton, Ruff, Thacker, Thom, and Whitaker are used instead of Crockford's Clerical Directory, Hazell's Annual, Laxton's Price Book, Ruff's Guide to the Turf, Thacker's Indian Directory, Thom's Official Directory, and Whitaker's Almanac. In addition, every Year Book is referred to by the letters "Y.B."

In the alphabetical list of works at the beginning of the volume, the publishers' houses are situated in London unless it is otherwise stated. The letter "n" signifies that the price quoted is net, whilst the capitals "A.," "B.," "Q.," "M.," "P.," indicate that the works are published annually, biennially, quarterly, monthly, or periodically.

OTHER PUBLICITY BOOKS PUBLISHED BY PITMAN'S

Salesmanship. A Practical Guide for Shop Assistant, Commercial Traveller, and Agent. By W. A. CORBION and G. E. GRIMSDALE. The authors deal at length with the influence of character upon salesmanship, the relation of the salesman to the buyer, the knowledge and care of stock, suggestive salesmanship, the avoidance or rectification of mistakes, system, etc. The lessons for the guidance of the salesman are illustrated by concrete examples, so that the work is eminently practical throughout. In crown 8vo, 186 pp., 2s. 6d. net.

The Theory and Practice of Advertising. By WALTER DILL SCOTT, Ph.D., Director of the Psychological Laboratory of North-Western University, U.S.A. The author of this work has made advertising the study of his life and is acknowledged as one of the greatest authorities on the subject in the United States. The book is so fascinatingly written that it will appeal to many classes of readers. In large crown 8vo, cloth, with 61 illustrations, 240 pp., 6s. net.

The Psychology of Advertising. A Simple Exposition of the Principles of Psychology in their Relation to Successful Advertising. By the same author. Professor DILL SCOTT has made a very lengthy and careful examination of his subject, a task for which his special training and his wide experience eminently qualify him. In view of the publication of the present work he prosecuted extensive inquiries as to the effect of various styles of advertising, etc., receiving replies from about 2,300 business and professional men. He gives us the result of his researches in this book. In large crown 8vo, cloth, with 67 illustrations, 282 pp., 6s. net.

The Principles of Practical Publicity. Being a Treatise on "The Art of Advertising." By TRUMAN A. DE WEESE. The author was in charge of special Publicity for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis (1904), and is Director of Publicity for one of the largest advertising firms in America. The book will be found a comprehensive and practical treatise covering the subject in all its branches, showing the successful adaptation of advertising to all lines of business. It has been written not only for the Manufacturer, the Merchant, the Business Man, and the student of Advertising, but for everyone who is seeking to create a market for a commodity or to increase the sales of his product. The Commonwealth of A U S T R A L I A

By The Hon. BERNHARD R. WISE
(Formerly Attorney-General of New South Wales.)

"This vivid picture of Australia comes from the brilliant pen of the Hon. Bernhard R. Wise, one of Australia's most gifted and remarkable sons. . . . It is a racy, fascinating narrative.

"The book, which is well illustrated, and neglects little, makes an effective plea for the better understanding between the Britisher of the United Kingdom and his kinsman in Australia."—Daily Mail.

"Although many histories have appeared from time to time, this is the first of any note which has been written since the inauguration of the Commonwealth."—Royal Colonial Institute Journal.

The Dominion of N E W Z E A L A N D

By SIR ARTHUR P. DOUGLAS, Bt.
(Formerly Under-Secretary for Defence, New Zealand.)

"The book quite fulfils the object of the series 'to quicken the interest of Englishmen in the expansion and maintenance of the Empire, and to give an account of its constituent countries as they are to-day.' Sir Arthur Douglas contrives to present in the 444 pages of his book an admirable account of life in New Zealand and an impartial summary of her development up to the present time. It is a most alluring picture that one conjures up after reading it."—Standard.

There are three sets, Elementary, Intermediate, and Advanced, and each set contains 20 cards with a varying number of questions on each card selected from those actually set by the different examining bodies. Each set is graded in difficulty, printed on stout cards and put up in a strong cloth case with two sets of answers arranged in book form. The Answers are full and explicit, detailed workings being given and explanations where required. Per set, 1s. 6d.

PITMAN'S BUSINESS BOOK-KEEPING TRANSACTIONS. No. 1. 1s. Including 52 forms for Invoices, Cheques, etc., and 8 blank Exercise Books enclosed in envelope. This work is planned to teach the principles of Book-keeping and at the same time furnish an insight into actual business methods. This is accomplished by the employment of a text-book giving particulars (with copious explanatory notes) of the transactions of a trader, accompanied by facsimiles of all documents which would be received, and of blank forms such as Invoices, Cheques, Bank Paying-in Slip Book, Account Books, etc.

PITMAN'S BOOK-KEEPING TRANSACTIONS. No. 2. This new work is arranged on a plan very similar to that which has proved so successful in the case of Book-keeping Transactions, No. 1 ; but, of course, the transactions include items of a rather more advanced character. There is a concisely-written text-book, giving clear and explicit instructions in the principles of Book-keeping, full particulars regarding the transactions of a trader, and the trader's books of account, forms, documents, etc., the whole enclosed in a stout envelope. The new work is arranged so as to give not only instruction in Book-keeping, but also a good deal of reliable information relating to business methods. Price 2s.

COMMON COMMODITIES OF COMMERCE SERIES.

Each book in crown 8vo, cloth, with coloured frontispiece and many illustrations, maps, charts, etc., net 1s. 6d.

In each of the handbooks in this series a particular produce is treated by an expert writer and practical man of business. Beginning with the life history of the plant, or other natural product, he follows its development until it becomes a commercial commodity, and so on through the various phases of its sale in the market and its purchase by the consumer.

TEA. From Grower to Consumer. By A. IBBETSON. The author is well known in the Tea world through his connection with the important house of Messrs. Joseph Travers & Sons. Mr. Ibbetson's pages give much help and information regarding the conditions of the Tea trade, the world's consumption of the product, and the fluctuation in price, the crops of particular years, the mystery of the art of blending, and so forth.

COFFEE. From Grower to Consumer. By B. B. KEABLE. Mr. Keable, like Mr. Ibbetson, is in the well-known house of Messrs. Joseph Travers & Sons, and can substantiate his claim to be an authority on Coffee. His book will be found, as in the case of that of Tea, to trace the progress of this commodity throughout.

COTTON. From the Raw Material to the Finished Product. By R. J. PEAKE. The author has had the supreme advantage of being in close touch with Mr. C. W. Macara, Chairman of the Committee of International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers, who has contributed advice and read the proofs of the book as it passed through the Press. This little handbook will be found to contain just the kind of information that is required on the greatest of our national industries.

SUGAR, CANE AND BEET. By GEO. MARTINEAU, C.B., Secretary to the British Sugar Refiners' Committee 1872-92. Adviser to the British Delegates at the International Conferences of 1875-6-7, 1888, 1898, and 1901-2. Assistant British Delegate on the Permanent International Sugar Commission at Brussels, 1903-5.

OIL, ANIMAL, VEGETABLE, ESSENTIAL, AND MINERAL. By C. AINSWORTH MITCHELL.

Other volumes in preparation.

PRACTICAL PRIMERS OF BUSINESS.

Each volume in this series is intended to serve the purpose of an introduction to the particular subject treated, and also to meet the requirements of those who do not wish to gain more than a slight but useful knowledge of the subject.

BOOK-KEEPING FOR RETAILERS. By H. W. PORRITT and W. NICKLIN, A.S.A.A. The authors of this new book have had in their professional capacity a great amount of experience in retailers' accounts, and in this handy little volume they present a system of book-keeping for retailers designedly simple, easy in operation, and accurate in its results. The adaptation of the system to various retail businesses is clearly discussed and explained. Numerous illustrations and examples simplify the treatment. Additional chapters deal with "Incidental Matters," such as leases, rates, assessment, and stock-taking, the various necessary forms of insurance, the making out of income-tax returns, partnerships and limited companies. In crown 8vo, cloth, 130 pp., net 1s.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION AND CORRESPONDENCE. By J. F. DAVIS, D.Lit., M.A., LL.B. (Lond.). The purpose of this book is, by means of a few simple rules, to enable a writer of either sex to express himself or herself clearly and correctly in the mother tongue as it ought to be written. The first part contains chapters on accidence with examples from Commercial Correspondence. The second part deals with syntax, parsing, analysis, and punctuation. The third part treats of the construction of sentences; precision and order, and the choice of words; and closes with specimens of business letters. The author, from his experience as examiner in English to the University of London and the Institute of Bankers, is peculiarly fitted to deal with this subject. In crown 8vo, cloth, 118 pp., net 1s.

THE ELEMENTS OF COMMERCIAL LAW. By A. H. DOUGLAS, LL.B. (Lond.). In the present volume the general principles of commercial law are presented. Examples and illustrations are freely used, in order that the subject may be made as intelligible and interesting as possible. In the first portion of the book the general principles of contract are discussed in comprehensive fashion, and later chapters deal with commercial relationships, partnerships, the sale and carriage of goods, and negotiable instruments. The author is a barrister-at-law who has attained the highest academic distinction both at the Inns of Court and London University. In crown 8vo, cloth, 128 pp., net 1s.

GUIDE TO INDEXING AND PRÉCIS WRITING. By WILLIAM JAYNE WESTON, M.A., and E. BOWKER. The present little work is intended primarily for candidates for the Civil Service, the Society of Arts, and similar examinations in the subject of Indexing and Précis Writing. The whole of the exercises included in the book are reproductions of actual examination papers. In crown 8vo, cloth, 116 pp., net 1s.

THE MONEY, AND THE STOCK AND SHARE MARKETS. By EMIL DAVIES. The idea of the author of this volume is not so much to give information to experts, but rather to assist the uninitiated in the somewhat complicated subjects of stock and share transactions. The author has for many years been actively engaged in the higher branches of finance, and makes the present primer as comprehensive and practical a work as possible. In crown 8vo, cloth, 124 pp., net 1s.

SHIPPING. By ARNOLD HALL and F. HEYWOOD. This book constitutes a reliable guide to the routine in connection with the shipment of goods and the clearance of vessels inwards and outwards. Part I describes the work of a shipper, and explains his duties after the receipt of the indent, in packing, forwarding, and insuring the goods, making out and sending the invoices, telegraphing, the routine of obtaining payment, customs formalities, claims for insurance, etc. Part II gives precise information regarding the work of a shipbroker, the entry and clearance inwards, the details in connection with the Custom House and the Shipping Office, the entry outwards, riggers, runners, and pilots, the Docks, Warehousing, Shipping, Exchange, etc., etc. In crown 8vo, cloth, with 27 shipping forms, 108 pp., net 1s.

THE ELEMENTS OF BANKING. By J. P. GANDY. Besides giving a brief history of Banking, this book deals practically with such matters as Opening an Account, the various forms of Cheques, Crossings, Endorsements, Bills of Exchange, the Rights of Holders of those instruments, Promissory Notes, the Pass Book, and the Collecting Banker. There are also chapters explanatory of the Bankers' Clearing House, the necessary steps to be taken in the case of dishonoured bills and cheques, etc. The Banker's obligations to his customers, the rights and duties of agents and trustees, Partnership Accounts and Companies' Accounts are all fully dealt with, while Circular Notes and Letters of Credit receive adequate attention. In crown 8vo, cloth, 140 pp., net 1s.

THE ELEMENTS OF INSURANCE. By J. ALFRED EKE. This new work presents in a brief form a vast amount of information with regard to the principles and practice of the important business of insurance. Workmen's compensation insurance is fully dealt with, and the book also treats of baggage insurance, bad debt insurance, live-stock insurance, stock insurance, etc., etc. There are chapters on carriage insurance, burglary insurance, marine, fire, and life insurance, with full explanations of the various kinds of policies, and in many cases reproductions of the documents. In crown 8vo, cloth, 140 pp., net 1s.

ADVERTISING. By HOWARD BRIDGEWATER. The author of this little work is the Advertisement Manager of a well-known daily paper, and the writer of many articles on the subject of advertising. He speaks, therefore, with the authority which comes of long experience. In the present work, Mr. Bridgewater sets forth the principles to be observed in drawing up advertisements, points out the errors that are to be avoided, gives hints on the preparation of "copy," and the choice of suitable media, describes the processes employed in reproducing illustrations of various kinds, and discusses the questions of type display and the frequency of insertion, etc., etc. The book is illustrated by examples of good and bad advertisements, representative of various businesses. In crown 8vo, cloth, 112 pp., net 1s.

PITMAN'S FRENCH COMMERCIAL READER. Deals in an interesting manner with the leading Commercial and National Institutions of France. The reading matter is most carefully selected, and while the student of French is improving his mastery of the language, he is at the same time getting a good insight into French commercial methods. Thus, while reading about invoices, the actual document is brought under his notice. Additional value is given to the book by the inclusion of questions and exercises. Maps, illustrations, and facsimiles of French commercial documents illustrate the text, and, in addition, the book contains a selection of commercial letters, a full list of commercial abbreviations in current use, and an exhaustive vocabulary. In crown 8vo, cloth, 208 pp., 2s. 6d.

PITMAN'S GERMAN COMMERCIAL READER. Prepared on similar lines to the French Commercial Reader above. It furnishes a practical introduction to German commercial institutions and transactions, with questions and exercises which render it well suited for use in schools. Students are afforded the fullest help possible from plates, illustrations, maps, and facsimiles of German commercial documents. The text has had the benefit of revision by modern language masters in well-known schools. In crown 8vo, cloth, 208 pp., 2s. 6d.

FRENCH TRANSLATION AND COMPOSITION. By LEWIS MARSH, B.A. (Hons.), Cantab., Med. and Mod. Languages Tripos, Late Exhibitioner of Emmanuel College; White Prizeman; Assistant Master, City of London School; and Special Instructor in French and German to the London County Council. Students preparing for public examinations will find this book exceedingly helpful. It is divided into four Parts. In Part I the chief difficulties met with in translation are classified and arranged, and the hints conveyed are summarized in a number of "Golden Rules" at the end; while in Part II the author works through a good selection of representative extracts according to the methods previously described, and finally gives in each case a finished translation, the aim throughout being to teach the student to deal intelligently with different styles of prose and verse. Part III consists of 100 carefully graduated extracts to be worked out by the student himself, all taken from classical French authors; and these are followed in Part IV by exercises in French composition based on the extracts in the preceding part. At the end is a French-English and English-French vocabulary. In crown 8vo, cloth, 187 pp., 2s. 6d.

FRENCH PHRASES FOR ADVANCED STUDENTS. By EDWARD KEALEY, B.A. A collection of useful phrases compiled on a new system.
